at the Davis for three days, starting Thursday. In order that everyone may see and thus realize the results of American effort in this war, it has been decided to show this film at popular wartime prices within the reach of all.

It is a revelation of a nation aroused in all its might. When you see what your government is doing to insure your freedom, you will put your shoulder to the wheel with new vigor. Here is the truth about the war. Here is Uncle Sam's answer to the lies of the Hun.

AUDITORIUM.

Robert Downing the eminent actor, who for the past ten years has been devoting his time to evangelistic mission and sium work in many parts o soon and summ work in many parts of the country, will return to the stage in August in a production of Ten Nights in a Barroom, under the man-agement of Arthur C Alston, who at one time was Mr. Bowning's manager, when he was playing The Gladiator, of the Ingomer Virginius are An-Othello, Ingomar, Virginius, aro Anthony, Brutus, Damon, etc.

Mr. Downing has been known for the past ten years as the actor-evan-gelist, and in the present case he wil entinue to be both the actor and evangelist-playing the part of Joe Morgan, the drunkard in the play, and devoting the Sabbath to delivering temperance talks in the interest of national prohibition, in churches and halls, wherever an opportunity pre-

After his stage experience, and ter years as an evangelist, preaching in churches of all denominations, he is convinced that the church and theatre can work together and become a pow-erful organization for the bettermen of men and women, claiming that his stage experience helps him in illustrating the force of the argument and by portraying the characters of whom he is talking, makes an impression much stronger than mere sermonizing. In the production of Ten Nights is a Barroom the evil effects of drin are shown, not merely upon the ind-vidual, the man himself, but the who community. So when Mr. Aiston asked Mr. Downing what he thought the play, and to play the part of Joe Morgan, deliver temperance talks en route on the Sabbath in churches, Y. M. C. A. etc., he at once saw a greater opportunity for real effective service than merely sermonizing to the same congregation week after week, who ere most satisfied with themselves, t the Auditorium Aug. 22, 23, 24.

BREED THEATRE.

We need not remaind you that feed tuning adventure No Man's Land, a new Metro play, starring the popular actor, Bert Lyteli, which will be seen at the Breed theat its today and Thirsday, would be impossible to duplicate. This is a screen version of the novel of that name from the famous author of adventurous fieldon Louis Joseph Vance. No Man's Land is a swiftly moving story of love and adventure, with a strong thread of subtle intrigue. Notwithstanding its little, the picture is not of war, No Man's Land being the description of an Island of mystery instead of shell-ruined terrain between the contending armies. The beauty of the scenes of this pieture are unsurpassed and mains of them are laid in the heart of Millionaries' Row on Grove avenue, Passdema, and on Catalina Island, Cal. Pearl White is also seen in The House of Hate, the photoplay with a large of the bill for today and Thursday.

MYSTERY IN SHEEP RAISING? "I'm making money from them," said C. Hoffman, an Indiana stockman, in reply to my query as to why he keeps sheep.

"Feel this goods," he continued, holding out his arm so that I might inspect his coat-sleeve. "I paid $20 for this suit, and a year ago I bought a better one for $20, with much more wool in it. Do you know why that is? It's because so many of us gave up sheep raising. When we lost money on sheep, it was simply be-cause we didn't take the time to study hem as we did our other stock.
